Modern Anti-Snow Systems
Roof Communication, and Facade Accessories

Your Solutions for Safety and Aesthetics

About US

CEDA is a renowned Polish manufacturer of high-quality elements for anti-snow systems, roof communication, and facade accessories. We are a family-owned company based in Białystok, which adds a personal touch to our business.

Rooted in family tradition, our company has become a leader in producing high-quality anti-snow systems, roof communication, and innovative facade accessories. We not only ensure safety but also provide stylish solutions that meet the highest industry standards.

Pipe snow barriers

Pipe snow barriers are an essential element on the roof, effectively protecting against potential snow hazards. They are installed to prevent snow from sliding off the roof, which is a key protection, especially in winter conditions and areas with frequent snowfall. These barriers, also known as snow fences, play a significant role in maintaining safety by eliminating the risk of sudden snowfall. Thanks to them, both workers and the building are protected from potential damages, making the roof a safe place in any weather conditions.

Roof communication

Roof communication is not just a set of elements on the roof; it is a crucial system ensuring safety and convenience during work at heights. It is primarily installed to enable easy, safe, and controlled access to various areas of the roof. Thanks to roof communication, professional service, repair, or maintenance work becomes much more efficient and secure. It is not only a standard in occupational safety but also a guarantee of smooth and certain interventions on the roof, regardless of weather conditions.

With us, safety becomes a priority, and the roof ceases to be just a structure - it becomes an integral part of the building's design.

Why you should choose CEDA

Committed to excellence, we use only the highest quality materials during production. Our mission is to deliver safe, aesthetic, and easy-to-install roof covering elements. In our gallery, we proudly showcase completed projects that illustrate our approach to design.

Fasade accessories

In our offer, you will find essential facade accessories, including exceptionally sturdy mounting brackets and efficient ventilation profiles. Mounting brackets are precisely designed to allow easy and secure installation on ventilated facades, ensuring reliable attachment to the building structure. Ventilation profiles, on the other hand, excellently support the ventilation process, protecting the facade from moisture and maintaining optimal internal conditions.

With our facade accessories, you will not only secure the building's structure but also ensure the aesthetics and functionality of the facade. The high quality of materials and precise execution make our accessories reliable support for the durable and efficient construction of ventilated facades.
